

Complete Self-Contained Camps for Recovery Ops

Immediate Availability

Morgan manufactures portable and modular buildings specifically designed for disaster relief operations.

Morgan Relief Camps are used by Police, Fire & Rescue teams, National Guard, Red Cross and dozens of other support services including distributors of food and other supplies.

As recovery progresses, agencies responsible for major infrastructure repair call on Morgan to provide reliable housing and support facilities as well:

Gas & Oil Companies: housing repair crews for refineries and land based operations for off-shore platforms

Utility Companies: repairing electric, phone, water, gas and cable

County Workers: such as road and bridge repair

Medical Providers: needing clean, dry first aid facilities with reliable power and sanitation

Food Service: storage, distribution, preparation and serving

Construction Crews: clearing hazards and rebuilding

Security: requiring guard houses and operations centers

Other agencies needing a sustainable base of operations in the affected areas include: Insurance, Emergency Management, HazMat, news media and others.

One distinct advantage of Morgan buildings is portability, the buildings can be moved as needs change to keep crews on the front lines of recovery and repair operations.

Fully self-contained mobile Shower/Bath building with electric generator and 16,000 gallon water and sewer capacity. This air-conditioned unit provides 13 shower stalls, 8 toilets and 320 gal.s of hot water

Air-conditioned dormitories provide comfortable, secure sleeping quarters for first responders and repair crews. Versatile open floor plans are also used for field command centers, first aid stations, security, school rooms and business offices.
